Irwin M. Gross, Principal

The High School of Art and Design is the professional arts high school operated by the Board of Education of the City of New York. New York, Spring 1978

To the Graduates of June, 1978:

Now that they are behind you, your years at Art and Design will seem brief and perhaps, all too swift. None-the-less, these have been significant years. We hope they have been years of challenge and change for you.

We have seen that the challenge has been social as well as academic and artistic. At Art and Design you have met and worked with young men and women from all parts of our city, from all kinds of backgrounds and persuasions. The fact of your meeting and working together for the mutual benefit of all concerned is evidence, in part, of your having met the challenge. This yearbook, your scholarship grants and other awards are also evidence of your having met the challenge on still other levels.

That these have been years of change is obvious by the physical growth you have experienced. The growth and change you have experienced in your attitudes, sense of worth, responsiveness to responsibility and individual maturation - - are not so obvious or easy to document and, in many ways, it's still too early to look for concrete examples. Those are for the future and, in fact, we, your teachers, friends and parents look to you because many of our hopes for positive changes in the future reside with you. I expect that some years from now, I or whoever will be the principal of Art and Design shall, to an entering freshman class, point to you as examples to pattern themselves after. I know, even now, that this will come to pass because you have used these past few years well. Good Luck!

Warmly,

Irwin M Gross.

Richard Goldstein

Foreword

The alarming depletion rate of the earth's natural resources dictated our theme of the year: Conservation of the Ecology.

By now everybody knows about detergent-bubbling rivers, oil-spilled beaches, dying lakes and nitrate-saturated soil. We've read all about insecticides, fertilizers, preservatives, carcinogens, noxious exhausts and radio-active waste.

We are concerned about endangered species and fading memories. Why then repeat and retell this dismal story page after page?

Because we had hoped an encouraging measure of self-discipline, inventive remedies and signs of turnarounds would be generated in the nearly five hundred creative young minds represented in this book.

The gravity of the situation is borne out by the paucity of positive indicators. But let us not despair: There are signs of a new awareness of real values, of respect for nature, of keen skepticism and a willingness to reject instant convenience when it is attached to a time bomb.

If there is one burning topic in the world today that cuts across all barriers and boundaries it is conservation. We like to think this includes the nurturing of artists and their imaginations: Art has been our mission and our mainstay, our inspiration and our source of energy. Let it be so with the Seventy-Eighters as they fan out into the field, fresh, facile, and fortunate.

Original serigraphs, still in production at press time, are presented in loose-leaf pouches inside front and back covers.

Acknowledgements

The chapter headings throughout this volume were executed by class AA3 as part of their calligraphy and freehand lettering program. Many of the advertisements—notably those on pages 309, 311, 313, 315, 316, 317, 320, 321, 322, 324, 325 and 326—were developed in class AA4 from thumb-nail to comp to finish with all the customary competition and client involvement.

Most of the tedious mechanical and paste-up work, retouching and index checking was done with exemplary care by Mr. Stanley Ray, Class of '61, as part of his teacher training experience.

To all my colleagues who joined in the effort of making the pages of their seniors visible proof of both graphic achievement and responsiveness to a specified topic—rather than letting them get by with any available sample—go my heartfelt thanks. TFN

LIFE IN BLOOM
by Harold H. Lake

As the rising sun
Greets the new dawn with showering radiance,
You arise...embrace this new day.
Nourish your blood with fruits of the Earth,
Gather your energy, human souls,
Gather all in all under the golden light of day
And dance with the winds of life...

Sing a song of love and gratitude.
Shout a joyful noise,
To be alive amongst the living.
Chant your desire for tomorrow,
Glow as the serpentine fire,
Enflamed with a passion to live...
Persue a lifespan within a day...

Mount the pyramids at Giza...
And walk the fertile banks of the Delta...
From the mouth of the Nile
Proclaim the glory of life in living bloom...
Go now...descend the depths of creation,
Ascend the highest star,
Behold the magnificence of creation...
And proclaim...
PROCLAIM the glory of your Creator!!!

MASS TRANSIT IS A HELP

MASS TRANSIT ONE OF NEWYORKS GREATEST HELPS IN SAVING ENERGY

SEE DONNA IF MORE PEOPLE WOULD RIDE ON THE TRANSIT SYSTEM WE COULD SAVE COUNTLESS AMOUNTS OF FUEL.

YEAH MY MOTHER LEAVES THE LIGHTS ON IN THE BATH ROOM 24 HOURS A DAY. SO I MAKE UP FOR IT BY TAKING THE TRAINS.

EVEN CAR POOLS WOULD HELP THE CITY

YOU KNOW SOMETHING ELSE.

WHAT?

OUR CHILDREN WILL PROABLY BE RIDING BIKES IN THE FUTURE.

THATS SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.

SO WHAT CAN WE DO TO GET THINGS DONE RIGHT.

WELL DONNA NOT MUCH WERE STILL YOUNG.

ONE THING THE CITY IS DOING IS MAKING TOLLS HIGHER FOR CARS SO DRIVERS WILL GO TO THE TRAILS AND BUSES. BUT THERES ONLY ONE ANSWER DONNA..

WHATS THAT TIM.

SUBWAY

THATS IF WE THE PEOPLE THINK OF EACH OTHERS AS OUR SELVES.

I GET THE POINT, I WONDER IF THEY DO!

DEVELOPMENT CENTER

CARELESS CUTTING DESTROYS LAND
WHICH CONTAINS NATURAL RESOURCES.

SOLAR ENERGY IS THE CLEANEST
SOURCE KNOWN TO MAN.

CONTOUR PLOWING CONSERVES WATER AND PREVENTS LAND EROSION.

DAMS CAN REGULATE OUR WATER SUPPLY AND USE IT AS ENERGY.

There are four billion people on the earth today. That is twice as much as a century ago. The population increase has led to environmental problems previously unknown. For this reason architectural creations must be designed to preserve our supply of natural resources. I have attempted to do this by using the sun, open space and natural surroundings that nature has provided.

Some 20 giant pandas are in captivity, mostly in Chinese zoos, which have succeeded in breeding them.

How much lies quietly buried in the ground that we wot not of! We unconsciously step over the eggs of snapping turtles slowly hatching the summer through. Not only was the surface perfectly dry and trackless there, but blackberry vines had run over the spot where these eggs were buried and weeds had sprung up above. If Iliads are not composed in our day, snapping turtles are hatched and arrive at maturity. It already thrusts forth its tremendous head...for the first time in this sphere, and slowly moves from side to side...opening its small glistening eyes for the first time to the light... expressive of dull rage, as if it had endured the trials of this world for a century. When I behold all nature abetting, I am convinced that there must be an irresistible necessity for mud turtles. With what tenacity Nature sticks to her idea! These eggs, not warm to the touch, buried in the ground, so slow to hatch, are like the seeds of vegetable life.

You're the Expert— on THE NATURAL GAS INDUSTRY

HELLO, BOYS! FINISHED WITH YOUR REPORT ON THE GAS INDUSTRY?

HI! JUST ABOUT. THOSE BOOKLETS YOU GAVE US WERE PACKED WITH INFORMATION—LIKE GAS BEING A $25 BILLION INDUSTRY.

THAT WAS LAST YEAR. IT'S MORE NOW. WE KEEP GROWING TO SERVE A MILLION NEW CUSTOMERS EACH YEAR. IT'LL BE A $50 BILLION INDUSTRY BY 1970.

© MIKE STRAUSS '61

ONE OF THE BOOKS SAID GAS IS AMERICA'S SIXTH LARGEST INDUSTRY.

YES... AND GAS PROVIDES MORE THAN A QUARTER OF THE NATION'S ENERGY.

MUST BE A LOT OF PEOPLE WORKING FOR GAS.

206,399 AND ME! THAT'S MORE THAN THE POPULATION OF PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND.

SOME SEARCH FOR GAS, OTHERS BUILD PIPELINES AND COMPANIES LIKE MINE DELIVER IT. THEY'RE BUSY NIGHT AND DAY TO KEEP GAS THE MOST PREFERRED FUEL.

What's This Clown Doing in Our Town?

By GEORGE JAMES

Peter Pitofsky made a triumphal return to his native New York yesterday wearing a false nose and baggy pants — being paid to do what he used to get thrown out of class for doing: making people laugh.

At age 19, Peter Pitofsky from Yorkville is a clown for the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

The 108th edition of the circus opens today and runs through June 4 at Madison Square Garden.

"Last year at this time I was in the audience wondering how I could become a clown," Pitofsky said yesterday, "and now I am one."

Attired in his Buster Keaton-like costume of baggy pants, exaggerated vest and pork-pie hat—a costume he created—Pitofsky made faces for children in a West Side train yard while waiting with the 22 elephants and a score of performers for the traditional parade to the Garden.

"I went to the circus last year with my mother and I saw that these clowns were doing what I always got thrown out of class for," he said.

At that time, he was a student of cartooning at Art and Design High School. For laughs, he would do pratfalls down stairs, fake passing out in the middle of the street and stage fistfights with a pal in the middle of traffic. "I was a clown without makeup," he said.

"I asked a program vendor, 'How do you become a clown?'

"He said, 'Give me a $1.50, I'll give you this program.' "

In the program was the address of the circus for such inquiries. Pitofsky sent a letter, received a form, and got a New York audition.

A self-described "movie fanatic," he performed his routine of loony mimicry and agile pratfalls that he had picked up from studying Abbott and Costello, the Three Stooges, Art Carney in "The Honeymooners," early Jerry Lewis, Charlie Chaplin, and — his idol — Buster Keaton. Then he was sent for an eight-week course at the circus' winter headquarters in Venice, Fla.

"I've been away from New York for four months," he said. "I'm so homesick. I couldn't get a decent slice of pizza."

The first thing he plans to do is visit his old high school and yell, "Teachers, I'm back."

While in town, he will stay with his family.

"Is my mom proud of me? She opens the window allatime and yells out, 'My son is a clown . . ."

Advertisements

Many of the following advertisements were conceived, designed and executed for our client-sponsors in class.

We are deeply grateful to the corporate officers who worked with us to produce these professional looking—and we hope effective—portfolio pieces.

In each case there were elements of competition, compromise and compensation—crowning experiences for a four year art-high school career.

Thomas F. Naegele
Teacher of Advertising Art

When you study art, you're ready for many careers.

Artists, today, have far greater opportunities to use their talents in a variety of fields. But in order to take advantage of the opportunities you need the kind of education that prepares you to be flexible, to accommodate to changes in technology as they occur. The School of Visual Arts believes in that kind of education. We believe artists must learn to be open to new ideas, new ways of thinking and feeling. That is fundamental to our teaching. Our graduates have found they can apply what they've learned in business, industry and government while finding personal satisfaction in creating for themselves.

There are few professions where you can prepare yourself for multiple careers in four years. Art is one of them. Art directors who become Advertising executives are not rare. Illustrators who are photographers, Graphic Artists who become Art Therapists, Fashion Illustrators who design clothes are typical examples of artists who have changed careers easily and profitably. We believe studying art must be for a lifetime of discovery.

If you are interested in our kind of education, we'd like to tell you about it. Send for our catalog and find out about our special curriculum for training artists in fine arts, media arts, film, and photography.

Now you don't have to choose between getting a good job and continuing your education.

You can come into the Army. Learn a skill. Travel half way around the world. And still find the time to work on your college education.

It's all part of the Army's unique education idea, Project AHEAD (Army Help for Education And Development). If you qualify under Project AHEAD, you choose the participating school you'd like to graduate from before you enlist. Then no matter where you serve while in the Army, you'll take courses taught by accredited colleges right on post, with the Army paying up to 75% of the tuition and fees for approved courses.

If you're interested in starting on your college education while you're working at a good job, call me.

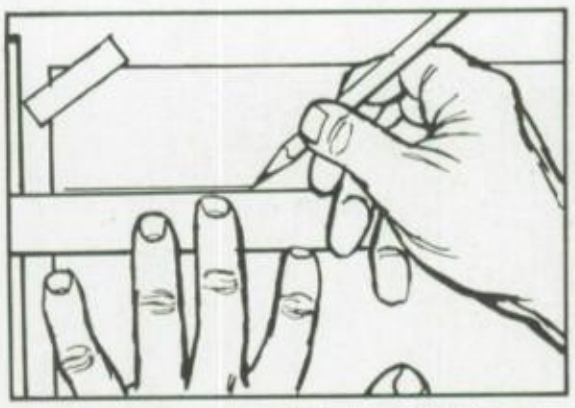
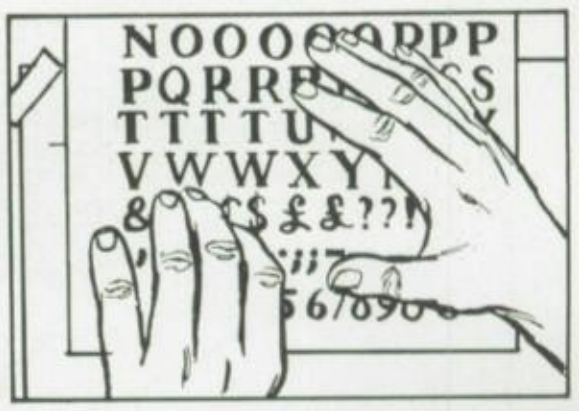
prestype®

the inventors* of dry transfer lettering.

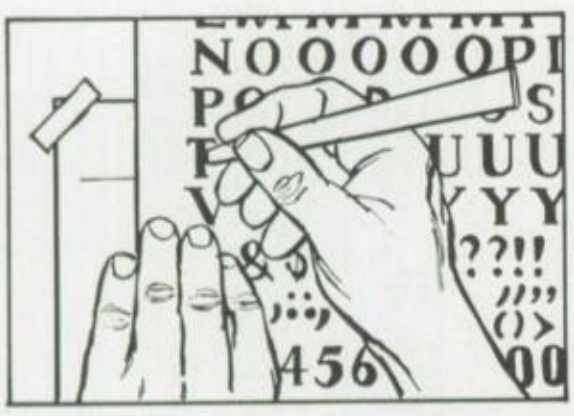
Prestype is designed to give you crisp, professional-looking lettering on any dry, clean surface: paper, illustration boards, glass, wood, metal, plastic. Our letters won't crack, chip or peel. And our carrier sheet won't distort or stretch, gives fast, perfect release everytime.



1. To make sure your lettering will be lined up and even, draw a light pencil guideline on your layout. (This line can easily be seen throughout the translucent Prestype sheet.)

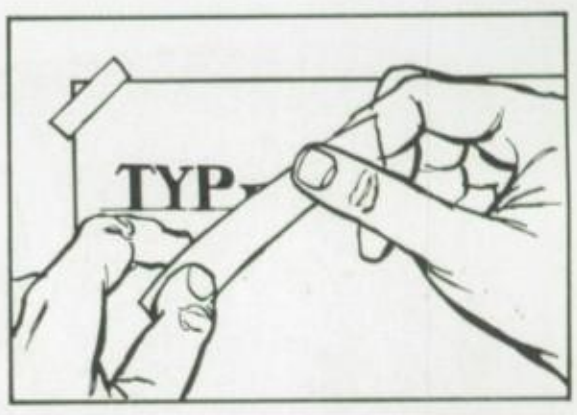


2. Place Prestype sheet on surface you want to letter.



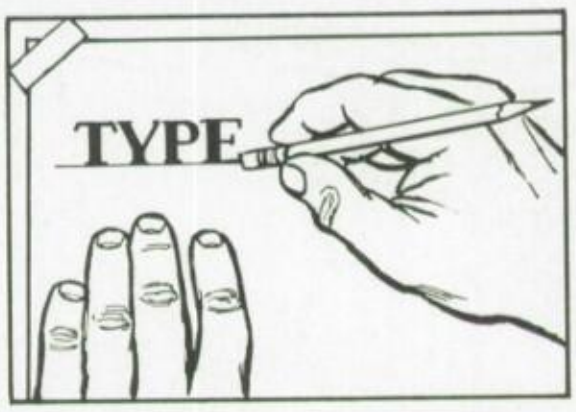
3. Using a pen, pencil or Prestype Teflon* burnisher, transfer the letter from the sheet to the surface by rubbing firmly over the letter with smooth even strokes. Be sure to cover all areas, especially serifs and thin lines.

4. Line up the next letter and repeat operation until you've completed the message. Result? Letter perfect lettering, with no cracking, peeling, distortion or drying.



5. To make corrections, simply lift off the letter in question with the tacky side of masking tape.

6. After transfer, re-rub with the accompanying white backing sheet over the lettering to insure firm, permanent adhesion.



HELPFUL HINTS:

1. After you've completed using the Prestype lettering and white back up sheet, use a pencil eraser to take up the guide lines. At this point, you can erase directly over the Prestype lettering with no fear of disturbing your newly created artwork.

2. Proper storage enables you to get the most out of Prestype. Keep sheets dirt-free and prevent drying by storing Prestype flat in cabinets, or sheet boxes with its protective backing.
